Marlene J. Yeo describes herself as an ordinary girl serving an extraordinary God. A devoted wife, mother, grandmother, leader, intercessor, and visionary, Marlene has been used by the Lord to pioneer churches and non-profit ministries, impacting lives locally and globally. Her deepest desire is to be remembered as a lover of God.

She is the Founder and President of Somebody Cares New England (since 2002), and of He Cares for Me (HCFM) (2015), a ministry of healing and deliverance for the soul, equipping of the church, and healing of the land 2 Chronicles 7:14

Marlene serves as the New England Regional Director for Journey to Transformation Discovery Weekends with George Otis Jr. and The Sentinel Group, a global ministry dedicated to community transformation through prayer and repentance.

Board Member and visionary of CCFI New England Center for the Arts- NECA teaches truth, develops technique, and inspires a generation to transcend limits in creative expression for the glory of God's Kingdom.

In November 2023, she launched Transformation Leadership Coaching, a one-year discipleship training program designed to equip leaders to live, love, and lead well in the home, community, and local church.

An ordained minister under CCF International, www.CCFInternational.org Marlene carries a prophetic mandate in her later years: to intercede for and establish discipleship training centers for creative and performing artists throughout the region—a Spirit-led alternative to the secular humanist training for creatives to use their gifting for the glory of God.
